

A photograph of a rain garden in an urban setting. The garden is a rectangular area with a concrete border, containing a variety of plants, including a prominent tree with bright red autumn foliage. A small stream of water flows through the garden, bordered by a yellow curb. In the background, there are trees, a building, and a parking lot. The sky is bright and overcast.

Trent Street Rain Garden

Steven Fifield
City of Victoria

Water Flow Path

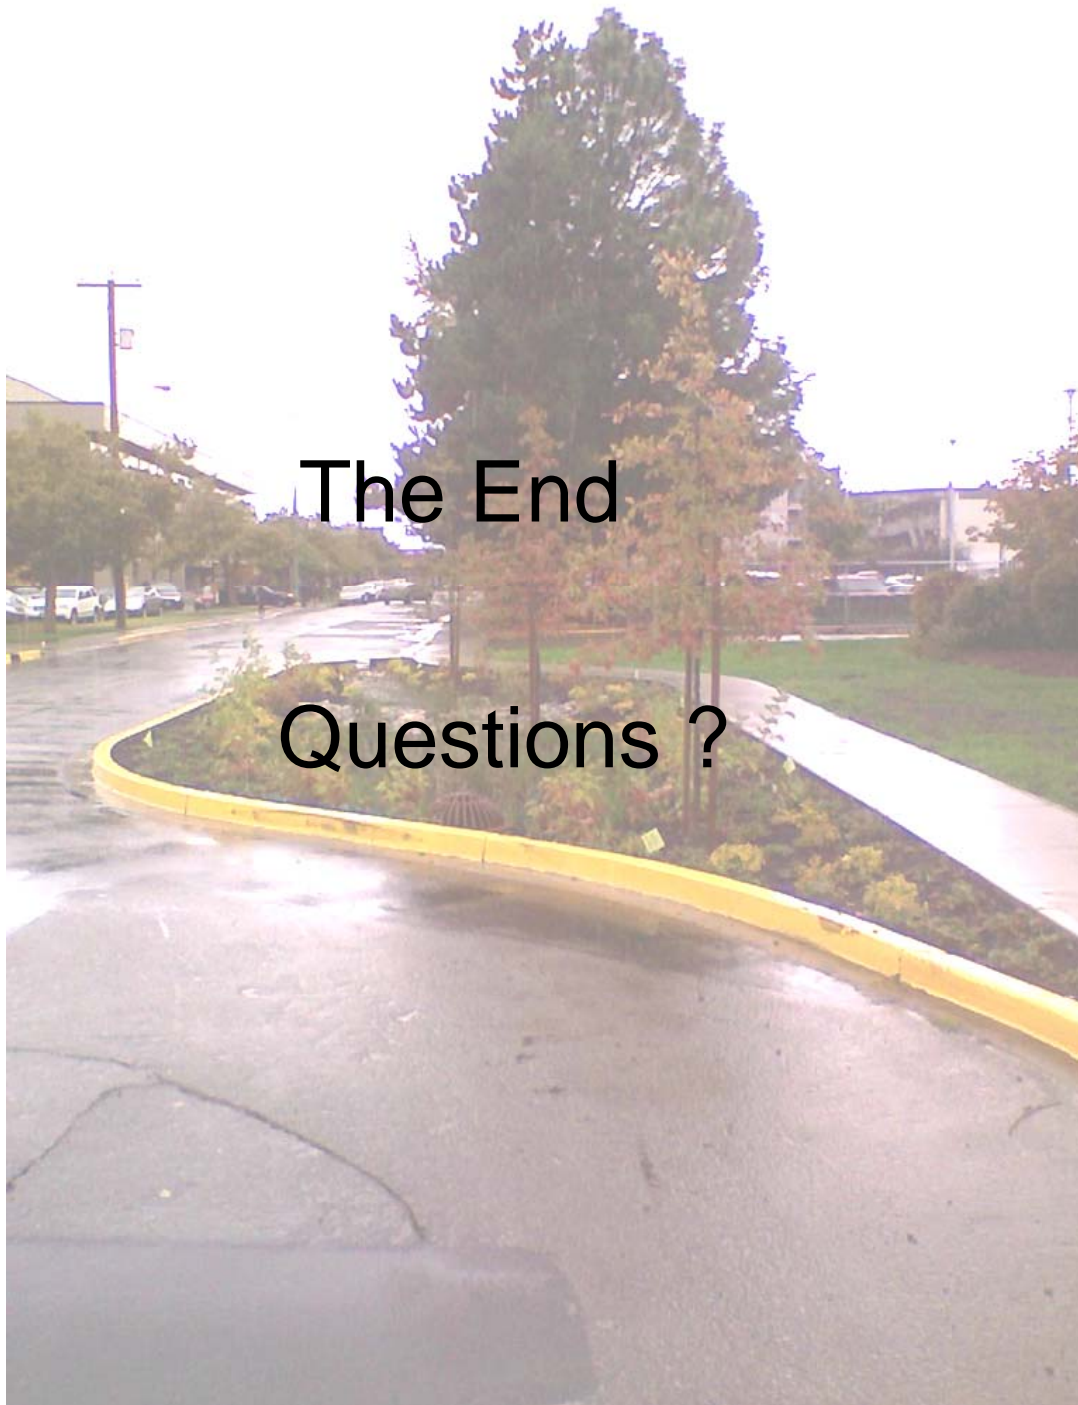

The End

Questions ?