

Leadership in Water Sustainability: Convening for Action on Vancouver Island

Province of British Columbia
Ministry of Environment, Lands and Parks
VANCOUVER ISLAND
SATELLITE IMAGE MAP

The data on this map was derived from a combination of satellite imagery and ground-based data. The data was processed and analyzed by the Ministry of Environment, Lands and Parks. The map is intended for informational purposes only and should not be used for navigation or other critical applications.

Scale 1:500,000

Legend
	Urban	Historical BC Province
	Forest	1960-1980
	Water	1960-1980
	Wetlands	1960-1980
	Agriculture	1960-1980
	Other	1960-1980

What will Vancouver Island look like in 50 years?

The way land is developed determines how water is used, and how water runs off the land

Convening for Action on Vancouver Island [CAVI] is a provincial pilot for water-centric planning

CAVI is led by a team that represents both the government and private sectors, and is supported by four organizations

The goal is to educate stakeholders on how to implement a 'Design with Nature' approach to community design

- Develop compact, complete communities
- Increase transportation options
- Reduce the loads on water, waste and energy systems
- Protect and restore urban 'green' space
- Strive for a lighter 'hydrologic footprint'
- Achieve higher levels of receiving water protection

To stay informed about CAVI, just go to waterbucket.ca

The screenshot shows the website's navigation and content sections. At the top, there are links for Home, Partners, Contact Us, and About This Site. Below this is a sidebar with a list of communities of interest, each with a horizontal line underneath. The main content area features a 'Latest Updates' section with several article teasers, each including a title and a 'Read more' link. At the bottom of the page, the 'waterbucket' logo is displayed in a large, white, lowercase font, with the tagline 'Sustainable Approaches to Water Resources' underneath it. To the right of the logo, a short paragraph describes the website's vision.

Home | Partners | Contact Us | About This Site

Visit these Communities of Interest

- Water Centric Planning
- Water Use and Conservation
- Rainwater Management
- Green Infrastructure
- Agriculture and Water
- Convening for Action
- Water Sustainability Committee

Latest Updates

- Irrigation Scheduling Calculator
Read more at Agriculture and Water
- Water Balance Model
Read more at Agriculture and Water
- POLIS Project report goes beyond the urban environment, addressing specific issues of governance
Read more at Convening for Action
- WATER SUSTAINABILITY ACTION PLAN FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA
Read more at Convening for Action
- Lantzville introduces low-impact development bylaw
Read more at Green Infrastructure
- BRITISH COLUMBIA MUNICIPALITIES LEAD THE WAY WITH ECO-SENSITIVE STREETS:

waterbucket
Sustainable Approaches to Water Resources

The vision of waterbucket.ca is to provide a resource-rich, highly interactive 'destination location' for timely and provocative information about water sustainability in British Columbia.